

1 - Liza Draper, Rebecca Reck - Join us for fellowship and prayer as we study the miracles of Jesus using Lectio Divina. We will alternate meeting over zoom and in person in socially distanced in a backyard every other week.

3 - James Janis - Men's group that aims to be our authentic selves.

5 - Jen and Lide Paterno - We're excited to grow in our relationship with the Lord. Bring your chair to our backyard as we seek God together.

7 - Hannah Pilgrim, Hannah Wolff - BYOB (blanket) and La Croix for low-key fellowship and study in the park. We will go through Justin Whitmel Earley's practical and encouraging book The Common Rule as we focus on how to align our habits with our beliefs to "transform frazzled days into lives of love for God and neighbor."

9 - Philip Burton, Marla Burton - Backyard sharing of celebrations and concerns and then conversation about the sermon.

2 - Logan Breed, Mary Breed & Erica Chapman - We'll delve into the scripture associated with the previous Sunday's sermon, pray and share together.

4 - Elliot & Alexandra Gaiser - How do we share the Gospel in a political town like Washington, D.C.? This small group will seek to apply biblical categories and theology to political categories, establishing a safe place for Christians to discuss political and cultural issues from race to regulations with truth and love. We will read selected weekly articles from faithful theologians together with scriptural passages, pray, fellowship, and talk openly about how our faith should intersect our politics.

6 - Cathy Guiles, Chris Starr - Christians have thought about our relationship to the environment in many ways. We will explore relevant Bible passages and use material from thoughtful Christian writers, scientists and theologians to discern how we should respond to the environmental issues of today.

8 - Sara Twaddell - Reading and discussion of "Be the Bridge: Pursing God's Heart for Racial Reconciliation" by Latasha Morrison. A tiny group for our tiny patio; limited to 4 people to maintain space. BYOB and chair.

10 - Beth Tipps, Shannon Moran - We will read a chapter-a-week in Ruth Haley Barton's "Sacred Rhythms" and share our reflections together about spiritual formation, what God's showing us, and how we can continue growing in Him. We'll meet socially distanced on the back porch area unless inclement weather prevents us, in which case we will move to Zoom. Bring your own dinner or snack, come read and reflect together. We'd love to have you!

11 - Amy Layman, Mallory Kuchem - We are hoping this time will provide an opportunity specifically for moms to commune, recharge, and pray for one another about the unique challenges presented by parenting during the pandemic.

13 - Timon Hazell - Casual Sermon Study. We will be meeting in person and focusing on fellowship, the sermon and prayer. Join us on Saturday morning for a chance to connect with other guys going through a similar journey. Bring your own chair and coffee. This is going to be a weather permitting small group, if you are over video calls and want to connect in person with some of your brothers, this group is for you.

15 - Jonathan Nelson, Roland Binker - A group of men who study the sermon topic, share and pray for one another.

17 - David Hanke - We will discuss the book, On the road with Saint Augustine, which is an exploration of a 'real-world spirituality for restless hearts'. I have been wanting to read this book for a while and I'm looking for a group of people who want to live it out.

19 - Kris Carter & Noreen Clancy - Anxiety is harder for some than others, but these days it's touching us all, from the personal to the global. Most of us just want anxiety to go away, but perhaps God has a plan to grow us THROUGH (instead of separate from) our anxiety. The study we will be going through is called "Anxiety as Opportunity for Spiritual Growth". It is designed for everyone, from those who struggle with anxiety to those who think they have it all under control. There is no outside homework, just the weekly Zoom call.

12 - Kevin Marshall, Heidi Marshall, Ryan Wismer, Emily Wismer - Evening Prayer with study of Apostles' Creed and Lord's Prayer based on the ACNA Catechism. We'll be meeting on our back porch (holds up to 10 people).

14 - Joel and Kate Harris - We will be going through a small group curriculum developed by our friend Dabid Bailey at Arrabon titled Race, Class, and the Kingdom of God. Link with more information is available here:
<https://arrabon.com/race-class-and-the-kingdom-of-god-study-series/>

16 - Mary Jo Binker, Susan Gonzalez - Bible Study with Coffee. Bring your coffee cup and cereal bowl as we feast on a study of Matthew with a side of prayer and fellowship. Pajamas and slippers encouraged.

18 - Isaiah Brooms - Led by Transitional Deacon, Isaiah Brooms, this small group will be a book study of Miroslav Volf's award winning publication, "Exclusion & Embrace." Volf explores what the Bible has to say about conflicts that emerge from rage related to the question of our identity; be it national, cultural, religious, etc. While issues of identity/otherness will be explored, Volf also searches for answers along the courageous road of reconciliation.

20 - David Fahrenkrug, Darlene Fahrenkrug - For now, we are primarily meeting on Zoom to discuss the sermon series. We also hope to gather from time to time in our backyard for dessert and fellowship. Maybe even some apple picking!

21 - John Remein, Christy Remein - Small group will follow the sermon series and focus on fellowship and prayer. We will start out online, but may have some social distance in person based on group desire.

22 - Hunter & Carolyn Weimer - We're a casual sermon discussion group.

23 - Dietrich Kuhlmann, Micki Kuhlmann - Group will follow Sermon series and meet mostly on line. There will be at least one outdoor meeting on our porch.

24 - Laurel Taylor - We will be reading through Be the Bridge and thinking about how the text helps us see ourselves and our role in our community.

25 - Heather Raber, Erin Bays - We will use Compline to guide prayer and discussion through the evening. We are reading through Psalms and talking about the specific challenges of being a mom, working or stay at home, in our current times. Depending on group preference we may meet in person, outside 1-3 times during the trimester.

26 - Scott Buckhout, Marlee Kingsley - We'll be talking about the sermon, spending time getting to know one another, and praying for one another.

27 - Liz Ranade Janis - Our small group will dig deep into spiritual formation and learn to listen for what the Lord might be doing in our lives during this most complicated season of life. Come ready to know each other, be known, and hopefully experience some joy. We will meet on the 3rd Thursday of the month.

28 - Nathan Dickerson, Andy Neal - This is a small group for guys who want to study Scripture together, pray for each other, and have a great time of fellowship.

29 - David Hanke - Participants will commit to a 40 day journey about racial injustice using the materials curated in An American Lament. On Fridays, we will gather to pray about what we read and studied that week.
